Insurance Litigation

Our team represents insures in coverage and bad faith litigation when they require experience and expertise in courts in Missouri, Illinois and Kansas.

We defend insurers in class actions attacking coverage and claims handling, and in claims seeking bad faith or extra contractual damages. We regularly provide counsel and opinions about commercial general liability insurance, financial loss insurance, professional liability, directors and officers liability, title insurance, property insurance, automobile and truck insurance, and self-insured risk. We are also regularly called upon to monitor litigation for our insurance clients in connection with litigation that may implicate their level of coverage.

Our lawyers write a premier blog focused on claims for bad faith and extra contractual damages: Bad Faith Blog.
