

INDUSTRIES

Homeowners' & Condo Associations

Managing a common interest association is fraught with the potential for complicated legal issues that transcend many different areas of law.

Our attorneys assist trustees, boards of directors and management company representatives in meeting the legal needs of their constituent communities by advising on drafting and amending governing documents (indentures), real estate issues, employment matters, covenant interpretation and enforcement, condemnation/eminent domain, tax matters, collecting assessments and general governance.