Lawyers & Law Firms

When attorneys and law firms find themselves in need of legal representation in connection with claims of malpractice or allegations of ethics violations they turn to our firm.

Our experienced team of attorneys counsel and defend the interests of litigation and transactional attorneys.

When representing the interests of attorneys, our in-house expertise allows our professional liability team to quickly and efficiently gain critical familiarity in the area of law practiced by our clients.

Legal malpractice cases are complex both factually and legally. The attorney defending legal malpractice claims must evaluate not only the malpractice claim, but also the underlying lawsuit or transaction. We understand these complexities and we have the experience to efficiently develop effective defense strategies.
