Mohsen Pasha Recognized by St. Louis Business Journal

NEWS & EVENTS: IN THE NEWS

Associate Mohsen Pasha has been recognized by the St. Louis Business Journal as one of the area's most promising young professionals. Mohsen, an associate who joined Sandberg Phoenix in 2015, is one of 30 area professionals under the age of 30 to be named to the Business Journal's 2017 30 Under 30 Class.

Mohsen focuses his practice on product liability and business litigation matters, and has developed significant experience in appellate litigation. A magna cum laude graduate of Saint Louis University School of Law, Mohsen interned at the Saint Louis University Office of General Counsel and for the Honorable Audrey G. Fleissig at the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri, participated in moot court and studied abroad in Madrid.

He also completed a one-year judicial clerkship for the Honorable Laura Denvir Stith at the Supreme Court of Missouri prior to joining Sandberg Phoenix.
